City, Board of Public Works, Public Affairs Office

The City of Los Angeles, Department of Public Works will be proposing expansion of its existing Bulky Item Collection Program to include residents of apartments with five or more units per building which will include a proposed fee effective October 1, 2007. This fee is also known as the Bulky Item Fee (BIF) which will be included in your Department of Water and Power Bill.

How do I know if I am receiving this service?

If you are a Multi-Family (5 or more unit apartment complex) with private refuse collection, you will be receiving the service.

What is the effective date of the proposed fee?

The fee will be effective October 1, 2007.

Why do we need a new fee?

This proposed fee is meant to eliminate the cost subsidized by the City of Los Angeles' General Fund to provide the collection and disposal of bulky items for residents of apartment buildings with five or more units.

Aren't these fees included in my property taxes?

No. Property tax generally pays for other obligations such as public safety. The BIF is meant to provide a Bulky Items collection service for apartments of 5 or more units.

What if I am exempt, low-income or Lifeline user?

Low-income will receive a 31% discount, while those on Lifeline will be exempt from the charge. This discount only applies to the BIF.

Will the BIF be increased again?

The City will re-evaluate the need for a fee increase each year after 2008 to ensure full cost recovery of the program.

What can I do to lower my BIF?

The Bureau of Sanitation has programs for low-income and lifeline users. Because the fee is charged through your DWP bill, you would need to contact DWP at 1-800-Dial-DWP for information on those programs.

How much will I pay once the proposed fee become effective?

This service will be funded through the following proposed fees: Effective date: October 1, 2007
Monthly fee for apartment	Per Month	Per Year
Owners-per units	$0.64	$7.68
Tenants/Residents	$0.64	$7.68
Owners-per unit Master Metered	$1.11	$13.32
Tenants-Qualifying Low Income	$0.44	$5.28
Tenants-DWP Lifeline Customers	Exempt	Exempt

What are Bulky Items?

Bulky items are large household items such as appliances, furniture, mattresses, e-waste (i.e. televisions, and computer monitors), and the annual collection of Christmas Trees.

PROPOSITION 218 – PUBLIC HEARING

What is Proposition 218?

Proposition 218 provides in part that no property related fee can be adopted without a properly noticed public hearing and, in many cases, voter approval.

Is voter approval required for the proposed BIF?

No. Charges for sewer, water and refuse collection are specifically exempt from the voter approval requirement under Proposition 218. The BIF is a charge for Bulky Items collection and disposal, and is therefore exempt from the voter approval requirement.

How do I, as a property owner/tenant, submit a written comment?

Written comments may be submitted by the property owner and tenant, by mail, no later than Monday July 16, 2007, to the City Clerk, 200 North Spring Street, Room 395, Los Angeles, California, 90012. Please write the words "Attn: Proposed Multi Family Bulky Items Pickup Fee" on your comment.

I am a tenant. Why am I receiving the notification?

The fee will be shared by the property owners and tenants. Proposition 218 requires that a written notice of the proposed BIF be mailed to the property owner and tenants on record of each identified residential complex.

How can I as a property owner be exempt from the fee?

The property owner or management needs to petition the Bureau of Sanitation for an exemption. Please have them contact the Bureau of Sanitation Hotline at 1-800-773-2489 for the guidelines and criteria required for exemption.

When and where is the Public Hearing?

The Public Hearing will be held
Tuesday, July 17, 2007 at 10:00 a.m.
City Hall
200 North Spring Street (MAP)
John Ferraro Council Chamber, Room 340
