

LA Industry COVID-19 Business Resource Guide

On the verge of a global crisis caused by the coronavirus disease (COVID-19), we experienced a never before seen pandemic which impacted our public health and threatened our local economy. Mayor Eric Garcetti's "Safer at Home " Emergency Order calls on Angelenos to stay in their residences and limit all activities outside their homes beyond what is absolutely necessary for essential tasks, he also called on all non-essential businesses to close down during the local emergency period. We understand that many businesses have to close their doors to prevent further spread of the virus, and its effect on unemployment and economic disruption. While the timeline for when businesses can continue as normal is unknown, the City of Los Angeles has responded swiftly and decisively to support our local, community businesses.

LA Sanitation & Environment (LASAN) is committed to protect public health and the environment; especially during a time like this, our services will remain uninterrupted. Angelenos can expect continued solid waste collection service, including refuse, recycling, green waste, and bulky item collection. Our stormwater and wastewater services will continue as well. Our LA Industry program will continue to work collaboratively with businesses to bridge this economic emergency and keep them afloat. We are mindful that the communities of color and low-income population are taking the hardest hit. LA Industry is working synergistically with Clean Up Green Up (CUGU) ombudsperson to rehabilitate businesses in the disadvantaged communities. The LA Industry team compiled this comprehensive list of resources available to our businesses. This list contains federal, state, and local loan program information and eligibility to apply, as well as emergency assistance programs for businesses that are affected by the COVID-19 crisis. The LA Industry Program was also created to counter the recent trend of large businesses and manufactures closing and leaving the City. Though the reasons for closure vary, LA Industry has been working to build a collaborative network of Los Angeles-based businesses and resource agencies. The goal is to work in partnership with business and industry to achieve a cycle of sustainability practices that will benefit our environment, economy, and community. It is recognized that the success of our local businesses is crucial to a healthy vibrant city, and we are committed to industry's continued growth and success, here in the City of Los Angeles. The belief is that if Los Angeles can keep manufacturing from leaving the City that all other industries will benefit. In our network, we assemble information and resources designed to assist businesses with financial and tax incentives, low-cost loan and grant programs, professional and workforce development, business strategies, and much more. LA Industry is committed to helping local industry thrive responsibly, and this is being achieved by retaining businesses and keeping manufacturing here in the City of Los Angeles. The LA Industry team also seeks to increase their efforts in delivering an effective program for source control of pollutants by assisting industry with permitting, complying with regulations, utilizing green chemistry and biomimicry, and adopting the circular economy mindset. In order to achieve these goals IWMD needed to change its sole focus of regulatory enforcement to one that includes collaborative partnerships with industry.

| Department of Education | Federal Student Loan Relief | COVID-related guidance: If you're having trouble making payments, contact your loan servicer as soon as possible. If you have a federal Perkins Loan, contact your school. You can easily avoid the consequences of delinquency or default by staying in touch with your servicer or school. Your servicer or school can provide information about deferment or forbearance options that allow you to temporarily stop making payments on your loans. You may also be able to change to a different repayment plan that would give you a lower monthly payment. | Contact your loan servicer, or your school if you have a federal Perkins Loan. https://studentaid.gov/announcements-events/coronavirus |
| Federal Reserve | Main Street Lending Program | The Federal Reserve has announced a $600 billion lending initiative designed for mid-sized businesses to ensure the easy flow of credit through the newly unveiled Main Street Lending program as part of a $2.3 trillion funding effort to minimize the financial impact of the coronavirus. The Fed is offering four-year loans to companies employing up to 10,000 workers and with revenues of less than $2.5 billion per year. The terms of those loans will also permit principal and interest payments to be deferred for a year. | https://www.federalreserve.gov/monetarypolicy/main.htm |
| IRS | Delay of Payment of Employer Payroll Taxes | The CARES Act provides that employers (including self-employed individuals) may defer their portion of the social security taxes otherwise due on wages paid (which is generally 6.2%), starting on the effective date of the CARES Act through the end of the 2020 calendar year. Under this provision, employers will still be responsible for paying their portion of the Medicare Tax (which is 1.45%). The deferred amounts can be paid in two equal installments, the first of which is due on December 31, 2021 and the second of which is due on December 31, 2022. Employers who have Small Business Administration loans forgiven under Section 1109 of the CARES Act will not be eligible for this deferral. | https://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p3151a.pdf |
| IRS | Employee Retention Program/ Employee Retention Credit | The Employee Retention Credit is a refundable tax credit against certain employment taxes equal to 50% of the qualified wages an eligible employer pays to employees after March 12, 2020, and before January 1, 2021. Eligible employers can get immediate access to the credit by reducing employment tax deposits they are otherwise required to make. Also, if the employer's employment tax deposits are not sufficient to cover the credit, the employer may get an advance payment from the IRS. Because this credit can apply to wages already paid after March 12, 2020, many struggling employers can get access to this credit by reducing upcoming deposits or requesting an advance credit on Form 7200, Advance of Employer Credits Due To COVID-19. | https://www.irs.gov/coronavirus/employee-retention-credit |
